

BADASS CLASS

Croatia is calling! The 12th grade of a Berlin high school is going on a graduation trip. Together with stressed-out teacher Ms. Gruber and over-committed teacher Georg, the trip doesn't start off as planned: In the so-called Eco-Hostel – no electricity after 6 p.m., gender-neutral toilets and only one (!) power outlet per room – the dream of an Insta-worthy beach vacation with endless parties seems to burst before it has even begun. McLarry in particular had high hopes of distraction: he's the only one who didn't pass his exams and who can't actually afford the class trip. He is also not yet over his breakup with Bella. But then there is a ray of hope – his favorite rapper and idol Zeno is also in Croatia! The perfect opportunity for McLarry to present his own songs to him. Together with his best buddy Cornelius and the two best friends Bella and Alena, they break away from the class excursion and head to Zeno's villa. With the hopelessly overtaxed chaperone Georg in tow, they embark on the gnarliest adventure of their lives...
